

week-18

JX-Ma

2024/11/30

1 INTORDUCE

This week's work is as follows:

This week, I mainly tried index precomputing and measured their performance on the CPU, but the performance did not reach the previously optimized level. In last week's v2 version, the space for storing indexes was further compressed, and the block size was also the same as the previous optimized version. On the v3 version, the approach is the same as v2.